GRANDFATHER'S WATCH.

Grandfather's watch is battered and old, Innocent as the face of a child.
Dull and dim, and worn and cracked, Much like grandfather's self, in fact.
Yet its wheezy voice has a cheerful sound, And the child as she listens is wonder bound To its mystic tale of departed time Is as long as though at a pleasant rhyme.

What are the tales the old watch tells?
Of seventy years it counts the knells: Years whose every setting sun Was marked by labor faithfully done.
With pen and pencil and with quill, And clasp and clasp when the work went ill, Yet serving the time as best they can—
This is the story of the watch and man!

THE MOUNTAIN LION.

Stirring Stories of Adventure
Among the "Rockies."

A War of Extermination—Lassing a Monster from Horseshoe. A Young Nimrod's Feet—A Huntsman's Justifiable Faint.

Some pretty big stories come from California of some pretty big mountain lions they have on the Pacific coast, but I think we have here in Montana larger and more ferocious specimens of this feline species than Californians ever heard of or dreamed of. Certainly they are found in great numbers all through this Northwestern belt of country and their ravages extend so far as to attack not only weak calves and yearlings on the ranges, but also sheep, goats and full-grown steers.

The natural home of the mountain lion is in the Northwest and the fathers of the species live here in Montana among the foothills of the Rocky mountains. Since the disappearance of the last herds of bison that once roamed over the prairies of Montana, Idaho and Wyoming the plains and hills of the Westward have been infested with all sorts of wild animals. Wolves and coyotes are, of course, the most destructive, but this is owing rather to their astonishing numbers than any thing else. Mountain lions come next and are almost as numerous as the coyotes, the coyotes and wolves. Close after the lions follow the bears, of which there are several varieties in the Rocky mountains, such as cinnamon, black, and grizzly. The grizzly, however, is found far up among the peaks, near the perpetual snow-line.

But mountain lions, owing to their cruelty and great numbers, must be considered the most destructive and most destructive of wild animal we have in this section. A lively war of extermination has been going on against them for some time. The Territory offers a premium of $8 on every scalp brought in by a hunter, and some of the mountain lions and the inducement by offering on their own accounts a nice little sum in addition to the Territorial sum. The cow-boys, with lots of game time on their hands during the winter months, gain a handsome amount for themselves (not to speak of the fun and sport they have) by hunting and killing mountain lions from November to March. The cow-boys sunder, with an eye to business, first traps on the Territorial Treasurer for $8; he then hands a bill to the county or something more, and finally sells the hide to a furrier for what it is worth. There were 144 mountain lions killed and paid for in Montana in 1884; 161 in 1885, for which $1,288 announced of the Territorial Treasury. and this year the figures promise to run up to 200 or thereabouts.

Mountain lions in this section attain prodigious size. Specimens are often killed measuring 9 feet from tip of tip and weighing not far from 250 to 300 pounds. Many more are killed and skinned and the skins are sold for occasionally a monster reaching 12 feet in the clear and perhaps longer is brought down by some lucky and daring hunter. The hide of this animal makes an excellent rug. Scarcely a ranch in the whole Rocky Mountain region is without a mountain lion skin on the floor. One cattle ranch on Powder river has every room in the house carpeted with handsome skins of this animal. The hide is a bright brown on the back and rump, but fades away into a soft white brown towards the sides and becomes almost a pure white under the belly. The tail is tipped with white and the head, ears, ears, nose and features are an exact reproduction of the domestic cat on a larger scale. The feet and claws are also like those of "Tom and Jerry."

While I am penning these lines word comes from a round-up party near here, busily at work rounding up cattle and branding calves, that Red Carlon, a cow-boy with the outfit and an expert with the lariat, accomplished the remarkable feat of roping a mountain lion alive from horseshoe. The foreman and three boys of the Green Mountain Land and Cattle Company were riding along the banks of Snake creek, near the foothills of Wolf mountains, two of them being about a quarter of a mile in the lead and the other pair following leisurely along in the rear.
The former were seen by their companions in the rear to start off hurrily as if chasing something, and spurred by curiosity the four men were soon hot on the heels of four powerful mountain lions. Three of the big fellows got away, but the fourth brought to bay. Red Carlon took down his lariat and, riding as close as safety would admit, succeeded in netting the noose entirely around the neck of the beast. The cat was a long one, but the expert accomplished the feat with neatness and dispatch. His horse was very fractious and the others had to go to the contrary assistance before the fierce brute was made a surrender. But now that they had him the boys did not know what to do with their elephant. He was finally dispatched with six-shooters from a safe distance.

One evening not long ago a herd of Angora goats that were being herded by Miss Teresa Tallent, on Lost river, Idaho, came home in a hurry and crashed pell-mell for the corral, a log concerned some eight feet high. They were shut in by the young shepherdess, no male members of the family being home at the time. In a search among the foothills no cause for alarm was developed. At midnight, Miss Tallent was aroused by her dog whining at her feet, and getting up she saw from the window, by the aid of a bright moonlight, some wild animals raising havoc in the corral. She stepped to the door to see the cause of the commotion, and found the embrace of four mountain lions and without a moment's hesitation attacked them with an axe. Two of the lions jumped the corral and fled.

Gen. W. A. Quarles, of Clarksville, is the Democratic nominee for State Senator from Montgomery and Stewart counties.

Gerinimo and his band of forty bucks, squaws and papposes, have been captured by Capt. Lawton, near Fort Bowie.

A. B. Montgomery defeated T. A. Robertson in the Fourth District, by 1,000 majority in the Congressional primary last Saturday.

Give me a home that is snug and low,
And let it be close to the ground;
I want to be where I can get up and go When earthquakes are shaking around.
—Louisville Times.

The Taylor brothers, candidates for Governor of Tennessee, have published a list of 40 appointments beginning Sept. 9th. They meet at Clarksville Oct. 21st.

Victoria Morisani Schilling, the New York millionaire's daughter, who married her father's coachman 18 months ago, has left her husband and "gone with a yellow man."

The existence of yellow fever at Biloxi, Miss., has been officially declared by the State Board of Health. There have been fifteen cases reported and a rigid quarantine has been established.

The Princeton Baffner recently burned out, we are glad to note, will resume publication and appear in reduced size last week. The insurance on the office was $2,300 and Capt. Allen estimates his loss above insurance at $1,500.

The campaign between the two brothers who are running for Governor in Tennessee is not a circumstance to the warfare being waged by the editorial brothers-in-law of Owensboro over the Congressional race.

The Madisonville Times, Mr. Laffoon's home paper, confesses that 270 fraudulent votes were polled for him in 1881. As his majority was 188 in the district this may be set down as a plea of guilty to the charge being made that Mr. Laffoon holds his present position by fraudulent votes.

Gen. B. F. Cheatham, postmaster at Nashville, Tenn., died Saturday morning. He was a soldier in the war with Mexico and a General in the Confederate Army. He was appointed postmaster by President Cleveland last year. A movement is already on foot to have his widow appointed to the position made vacant by his death.

The district press is divided as follows: The Hopkinsville KENTUCKIAN, Owensboro Messenger and Calhoun Democrat are for McKenzie; the Madisonville Times, Henderson News and Dixon Record for Laffoon; The Owensboro Inquirer and Henderson Journal for Ellis; The Union Local and Caseyville Enterprise for Adair, and the Hopkinsville New Era and Henderson Gleaner claim to be neutral, but their publishers are for Laffoon.

How can Mr. Laffoon ask Mr. Clay's friends to vote for him when by doing they "endorse" the fraud by which Clay was defeated and deprived of $10,000 salary? Having supported Mr. Laffoon in 1881, we had hoped that there was no truth in the charge of fraud and corruption, but since his friends have entered a plea of guilty, there can no longer be a doubt entertained. It now only remains for the people to rebuke such methods.

Of the Kentucky Congressmen three—Breckenridge, McCreary and Taulbee—have been re-nominated; Wolford declined to be a candidate and Maj. Bots has been nominated to succeed him; Tom Robertson has just been defeated by A. B. Montgomery; Carlisle's re-nomination is a foregone conclusion; Willis, Haisell and Laffoon are all having serious trouble and the chances are that all of them will be defeated. Stone will have to tackle Oscar Turner as usual, and in the 9th, Wadsworth's district, Wall and Bascom are contending for the Democratic nomination.

The Madisonville Times, whose editor is an honest, truthful man and a staunch friend of Mr. Laffoon, has had the candor to admit that as many as 270 fraudulent votes were cast for Laffoon in Hopkins county in 1881. This forever settles the fraud issue and presents Mr. Laffoon in the unenviable light of occupying a position to which he was not honestly chosen. These fraudulent votes thrown out would have nominated Mr. Clay by 82 votes. We fail to see how this admission can help Mr. Laffoon's cause among honorable, fair-minded men.

From the present outlook the race for Congress in this district will be between W. J. Stone, the present representative, and Oscar Turner. Up to this time the general impression seems to be that the Republicans will make a nomination and that the rank and file of the party will compromise on Turner in order to beat Stone or any other nominee of the Democratic party. As there can be no hope for the Republicans in a fair, square political contest, they will be satisfied if they can in any way damage the dominant party.—Crittenden Press.

CONGRESSIONAL POINTERS.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT.

It is a fact that fully eight hundred illegal, fraudulent and fictitious names were put upon the Hopkins county poll-books in the primary between Clay and Laffoon. It is a fact that these names were equally divided between the poll-books of the Charleston, Earlington, Court-house and Kitchen precincts. Out of the mouths of three of the clerks of the election have we heard the story of the fraud—told after the November election, 1884, was over, and when Laffoon was no longer in danger. Nearly every man in Madisonville, Earlington and Dawson knows the full details of the fraud, and they have talked freely of it for nearly two years.—Owensboro Messenger.

A STONG POINT.

Mr. McKenzie made a very strong point in his Liverpool speech when he challenged his opponents to name a single measure to reduce taxation introduced and passed by any of the one hundred and twenty-five Congressmen who have represented Kentucky in the past twenty-five years save himself. He claimed, and no one attempted to controvert him, that his quinine bill and his tobacco tax bill were the only bills of this character ever passed at the instance of a Kentuckian in that length of time. By their failure to dispute this proposition his opponents conceded to him all the credit he deserves.—Messenger.

ONE INSTANCE OF MANY.

A little darky who goes by the delightful name of "Stink" was one of the Hopkins county voters who sent Polk Laffoon to Congress. At that time "Stink" was assistant chambermaid at Elijah Bassett's livery stable in Madisonville. When "Stink's" name was entered by the clerk of the election, the clerk could not remember his real name, so he put him down as "Stink Bassett." The boy's real name is Harrison Pritchett, but for years he has been known in Madisonville only as "Stink." He is now a bootblack in Porter's barber-shop in Madisonville, and is just fifteen years old. When he voted for "Marse Polk" he was only thirteen. This is but one instance of the shameful frauds committed in Madisonville that day. The names of many other little boys, white and black, were recorded for Laffoon with the same reckless impunity. We call on the Madisonville Times, Mr. Laffoon's organ, or any other newspaper or individual, to deny this. But it will not be denied. It is as true as gospel.—Messenger.

CONFESSIONS TO 270 FRAUDULENT VOTES.

That frauds were committed at the primary here no sane, truthful citizen of this county denies, but what puzzles us is how certain papers and people found out there were exactly 810 fraudulent votes. * * * The men who are supposed to know all about it have never claimed that there were 810 fraudulent votes, or anything like it. We believe that one third of that number (810) would cover the fraudulent vote. It has been very greatly exaggerated, we honestly believe.—Madisonville Times.

MCKENZIE'S RECORD IS CLEAN.

Some of the press and people supporting Ellis are very loud-mouthed in their utterances about "the Hopkins county fraud," forgetful of the fact that Mr. Ellis himself has anything but a savory record on that question. When hundreds of fraudulent votes were cast for Owen (Mr. Ellis' partner) for Circuit Judge in Daviess county, Mr. Ellis claimed that there was no going behind the returns, and that the votes should be counted for Owen, and they were, and the fraud committed in Owen's interest is said to have been notorious and shameful.—Madisonville Times.

M. and 6 o'clock P. M. Poll books will be opened at all precincts in the county and each voter will cast his ballot at his respective voting place. The qualifications of voters are set forth in the following resolution adopted by the District Committee: Resolved, That the votes of only such persons who at the last Presidential election voted for Cleveland, or who not then voting have uniformly affiliated with the Democratic party, and of those persons who will arrive at twenty-one years of age or over at the coming Congressional election, and who are Democrats and declare their intention to vote for the Democratic nominee at such primary, shall be received at such primary.

To the Voters of the Second Congressional District.

What are you going to do? If you are a Democrat you will vote for McKenzie, and if you are a man of sense you will understand all the by which our Democracy is held together. For the first time in a quarter of a century you have within your grasp the handle by which the destiny of this Republic may be turned into the heights of all goodness, or the depths of all evil. You have the power if you will arouse out of the lethargy and indifference, which has inhabited too long the spirit of our Democracy, to stir this land to its centre and thrill its mighty soul with the reality of its liberty. The day has long been behind the tempest tossed curtains of the past in which the heart of our nation was made to thrill with that sacred pride, produced by the old appellations applied to its shores, and sung from the mouth of lovely woman, this, "The land of the free and the home of the brave." Where is your freedom today? Floating through fancy's fictitious seas or buried beneath the weight of other passions in the lost sublimity of the Nation's heart. Where is your bravery? Coursing its way through the indistinct remnant of a people's departed glory. And above all in this the grand old State of Kentucky? She who has been the mother of orators, statesmen, poets, painters, sculptors and men whose nobility consisted, not alone, in the circle where fame's immortal coronet gleamed, but settled in resplendent grandeur o'er the lower realms of a practical and common sense, and impregnated in the heart of humanity, that divine reverence that true genius claims as her due. And why not labor to maintain men whose elevation of thought and compassionate hearts fit them more surely for such responsible positions, than those whose talent is only a shining light, and whose eloquence springs from the tongue alone. In this coming election all true Democrats and Kentuckians should uphold their honored and well won principles by placing in Congress a man worthy to fulfill the responsibilities that devolve on one of that office. If we obey the commands of the Scriptures and "Judge the tree by its fruit," then the voters will remember the obligations we are under to Mr. McKenzie, who during his last term conferred upon our nation an eternal blessing and emblazoned his name with a lustre whose brightness is immortal. Shall we stop at this short rehearsal of his achievements? Yes; for those who study the political progress of great men, know McKenzie's greatness; and those who know him personally know his noble and elevated nature. Kentucky, proud State of this Union, No glory for thee too bright, Since McKenzie is here to enfold thee In truth's immortal light; Kentuckians let justice awaken While life was calmly lost, Pay well your debts to McKenzie At September's voting post. Years of deep import have floated O'er the grave where Breckenridge sleeps, Bat over the walls of Kentucky's fame The blessing of hope still creeps. All honor to the heroes buried, That spring from our native shore, But those who elect McKenzie Kentucky will honor more.

STILL QUAKING.

Charleston Still Being Shooked By Repeated Earthquakes.

ANOTHER SLIGHT SHOCK.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 4.—At 9:30 to-night another earthquake shook about five seconds duration, the first of the day, startled the shack-up people. It was not nearly so severe as the shock of last night.

A HARD ONE FRIDAY NIGHT.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 3.—At one minute to 11 o'clock to-night another terrific shock passed over the city. Consternation again prevails. People camping in the public squares are singing and praying. Two buildings fell. A white woman, name unknown, was killed by a falling wall.

THIRTY-SIX KILLED.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 2.—The official total of deaths in this city from the earthquake shocks is thirty-six. The wounded will probably number 100. Business is still suspended, the whole attention of the people being given to providing for refuge and making residences safe. Bricklayers have advanced their rates to $6 a day. The City Council will probably meet tomorrow to provide measures for relieving the poor. Expressions of gratitude are heard on all sides for the assistance offered to Charleston, of which the suffering people will gladly avail themselves. There were two shocks last night at 8:30, 11:50 P. M. and 5 A. M. All were light. Confidence is gradually returning, but much apprehension is still felt.

THE DEATH LIST.

The following is the official list of those killed by the earthquake or who have since died from their injuries:

WHITE.
Peter Powers, Mrs. C. Barker, Annie H. Robinson, R. H. Magnanotte, Patrick Lynch, Annie Tork, Mrs. Rachel Abrens, Goldie Abrens, COLORED.

Thomas Wilson, Wm. Dear, Anna Glover, Z. Wyer, Wm. Grant, Alexander Miller, Joe. Rofoft, Maria Bickney, James Brown, Angeline Davis, Eugene Roberts, Robert De Rodoff, Grace Fleming, Rosa Murray, Oliver Stickle, John C. Gentry, Charles Simmons, Naniel Harris, Sarah Middleton, Rebecca Ward, Florence Reector, Mary Lee.

SCIENTIFIC FACTS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Prof. Powell received by cable to-day a request from Secretary Topley, of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, "to wire chief facts of the earthquake." The following was sent in reply:

TORREY, BRITISH ASSOCIATION, BIRMINGHAM, ENGLAND. Earthquake most severe on record in the United States, and affected the greatest area. Origin along line of post-glacial depression on eastern flank of Appalachians, especially where it crosses Central North Carolina. Shocks continued for several days, moderately severe shocks occurring near Charleston, August 27 and 28. The principal shocks causing great destruction in Charleston originated in Central North Carolina, August 27 and 28. A series of shocks varying from twenty-five to sixty miles, over an area of 80,000 square miles, one quarter of the United States, continued for eight days, from the Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes, and Southern New England, and from the Atlantic seaboard to the Central Mississippi valley. In the Carolinas it was accompanied by bad fires, crevasses, and great destruction of property. Charleston is in ruins, and more than forty lives lost. No sea waves yet reported. A moderate series of shocks was felt at Charleston at 8:25 A. M., September 1st; minor shocks followed at increasing intervals. The principal shock was felt all over this vast area within fifteen minutes, and may be recorded at some of the principal points as a seismic intensity of five, as follows: Raleigh four, at 9:20 P. M.; Charleston five, at 9:24 P. M.; New York, two, at 9:26; Knoxville three, at 9:28; Memphis four, at 9:30; St. Louis two, at 10; Milwaukee two, at 10:30; Pittsburg three, at 11; Albany two, at 11:30; Springfield, Mass., one, at 10; New York two, at 10:30.

SHOWERS OF STONES.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 4.—The earthquake shock last night caused great alarm on account of the shattered condition of the nerves of the people. Those persons who had ventured back under their roofs hurried into the streets, which presented for a few minutes as a tragical an appearance as on Tuesday night. But little actual harm was done by the shock. Two untenanted houses are reported to have fallen, together with a part of the coping of the Charleston Hotel. The vibration during the shock was not especially great, but the moaning and howling sound was sufficiently alarming. Gradually the people had come to the conviction that the shocks were at an end and the disappointment was agonizing.

The sensation to-day is the falling of showers of pebbles in the lower part of the city. The first fall was at 7:30 o'clock this morning, and the second at about 11 o'clock. They appeared to fall in a slanting direction from south to north. There are morsels of flint among them, and all are plainly abraded and worn by the action of the water. Some few have sharp fractures and have evidently been recently broken. The fact of the fall is vouched for by several trustworthy persons. The bulk of the pebbles fell in and around the News and Courier office.

ANOTHER SHOCK.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 5.—There was another shock at 11:05 to-night. It was not very severe, and the duration was about two seconds. The prevailing belief here to-night is that the worst is over, and that the inhabitants are reasonably secured from further visitations of earthquake.
